This magnificent town house dating back to the 15th century, being one of the first houses to be built in the Capital and still standing in all its glory today. Enjoying stunning views of the Three Cities from its roof terrace having a lovely splash pool. This residence has been converted and with just a little upgrade, can make a wonderful home indeed. The house offers a welcoming reception, leading to the large and bright courtyard, living/kitchen area, separate dining room, main bathroom, and ample storage. At basement level a few empty rooms which could be idea as a wine cellar. There are two staircases (a traditional Maltese garigor) and the wide main staircase). The first floor has a large sala nobile front room stretching the full width of the facade of the house and 2 bedrooms with a shared bathroom on the lateral side. The second floor has the 3 bedrooms and bathroom, with an additional yard. At roof level a large bedroom the size of the sala nobile, a separate bathroom and a south facing roof terrace with pool, decking area, kitchenette and a separate terrace enjoying the belvedere of the Grand Harbour. This remarkably spacious home offers ample living space and is meticulously well kept, adorned with stunning original features such as stone archways, high ceilings, wooden beams, garigor, wooden maltese balcony and much more. Double garage available optional for rental. .
